Re: Comparison of ZeoFill to the Zeolite Max product

Over the past year, we have purchased 60 pallets of ZeoFill and 20 pallets on Zeolite Max. After using both products and comparing them, we have come to the conclusion that the ZeoFill product is much superior to the Zeolite Max product.

The Zeolite Max product was finer and dustier than the ZeoFill product. This required the use of much more product for the infilling of our artificial grass product which greatly increased the cost per square foot. Usage of the Zeolite Max was nearly double that of the ZeoFill product for the same square footages.

The review also concluded the ZeoFill product absorbed more urine liquid in a shorter timeframe and held the ammonia gas much longer than the Zeolite Max.

Moving forward, our business model for our artificial grass business in offering this infill option is to stick with the proven winner: ZeoFill. It is the only cost effective product in offering odor absorbing and heat reducing solutions.
